WOOD'S SCHOOL LIFE

A tangible bridge joins the academic subjects, activities and sports at Wood High School. Over this bridge, daily, pass the 2,000 students of our school, going to and fro between the two buildings. One building contains the classrooms where academic and shop classes are taught, and the administrative offices. The other building houses the rooms needed for activities and sports; the auditorium, the gym, and the cafeteria.

This bridge serves a double purpose. Traffic across its wide expanse is great but it also stands as a symbol of the two facets of school life. Education builds invisible bridges that we must cross as we grow in wisdom and stature. These bridges are needed to span the gap between youth and maturity, ignorance and wisdom. insecurity and stability.

Individuals in our school represent many differences in character and ambitions. Here we have six different grades, and the needs of each group regulate the activities and policies of which our school day is comprised.

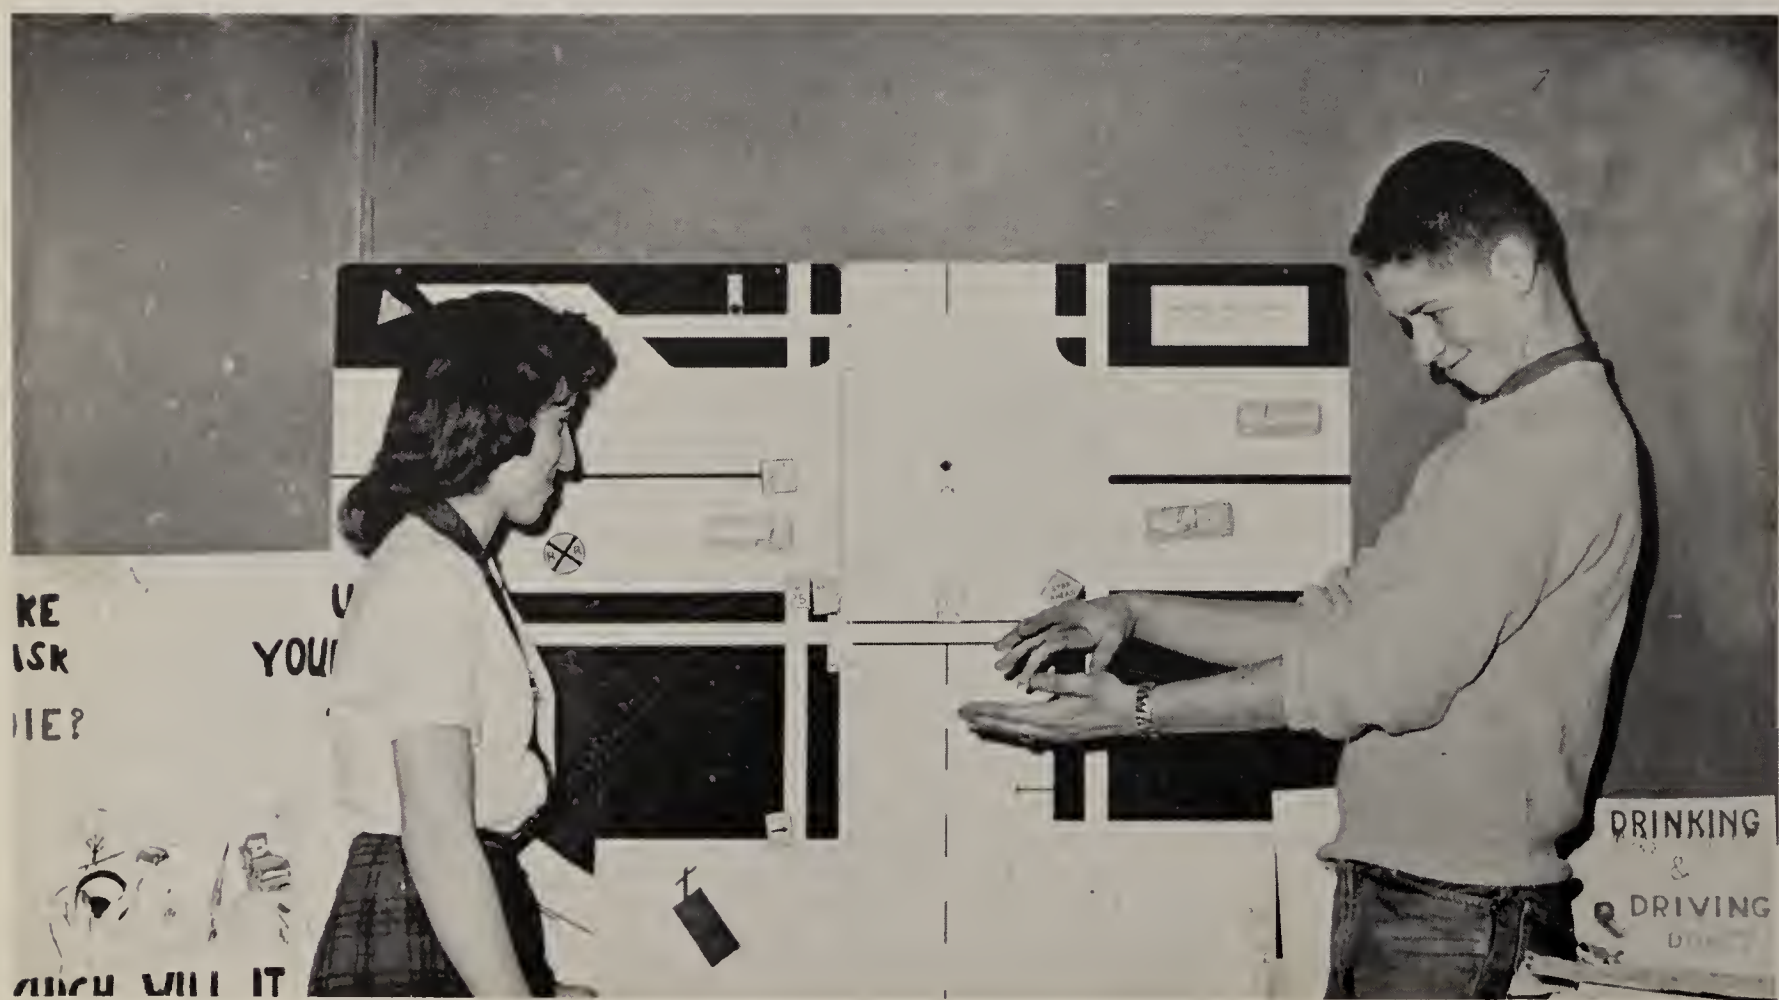
WOODCHUCKS PLAN –

A high school day is made up of many different preparations. We are preparing not only for our daily work, but for the future days when we will need the knowledge and skills that we have learned in school. We not only prepare for our classes, but we learn to plan and prepare for school dances, plays, sports, and various activities. We have learned that through preparation our activities prove more successful and we are more secure in our projects.

True security cannot come from outside forces. It comes only from an individual's own feeling of accomplishment, it is that sense of well being earned by a person who feels secure because he knows he has done his best for himself and others. To reach this goal each person must successfully cross a bridge; a bridge of indecision, of hardwork, of disappointments of sorrow and often of joy.

The library offers unlimited sources of information and facts for Johnny Necessary and all students who are eager to delve into the miraculous world of the printed page.

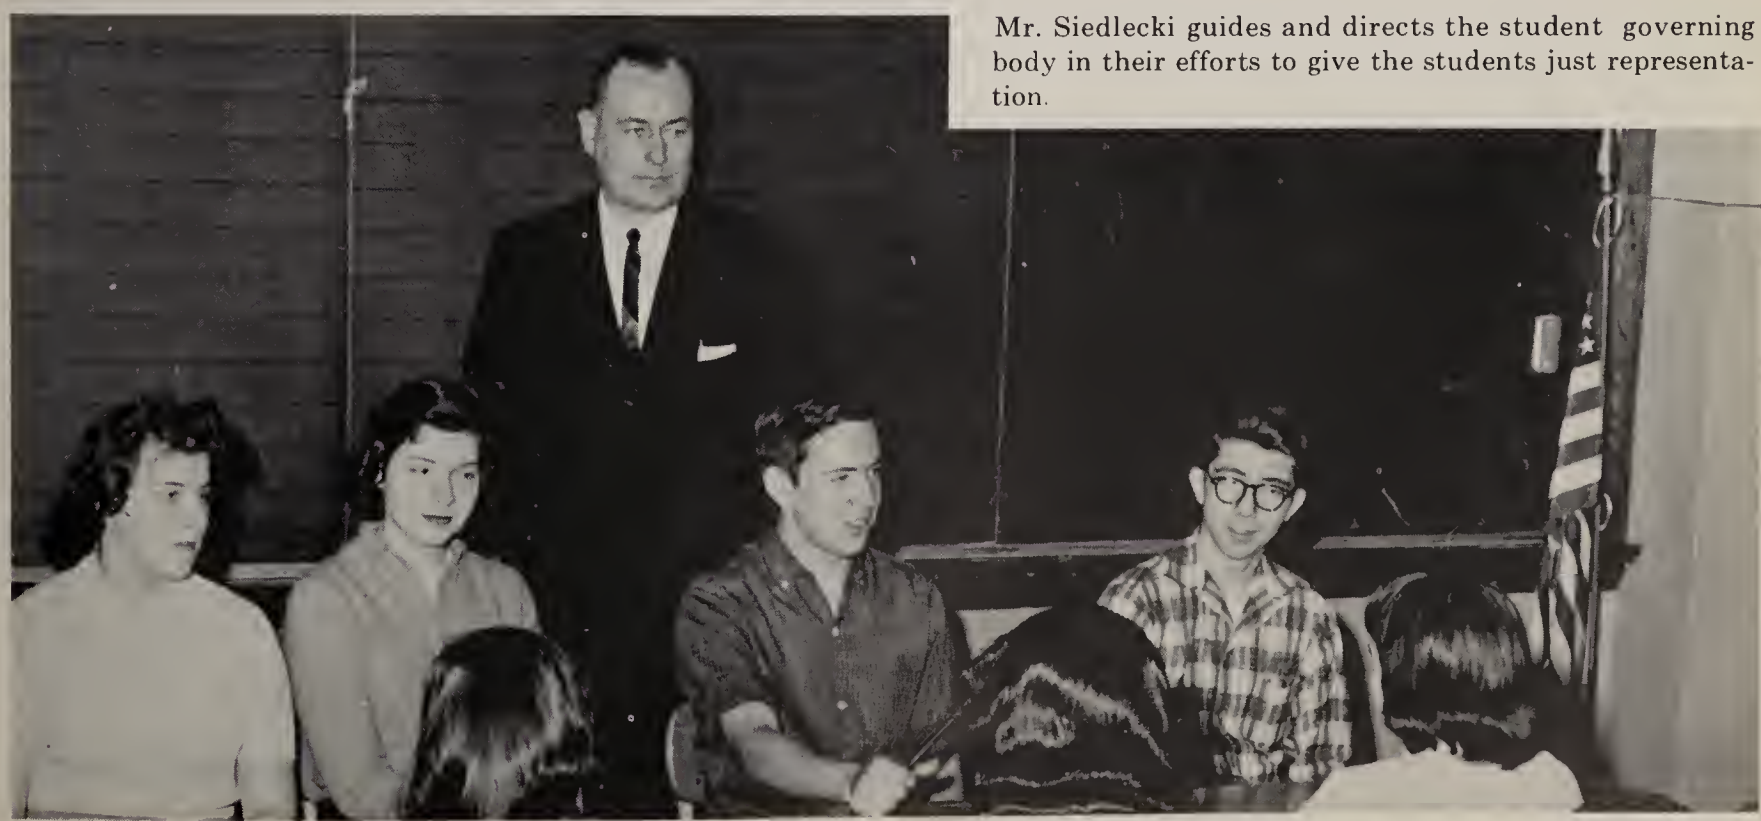
In Driver Education Sherry Williams and Ray Norton illustrate several good driving practices. Learning how to drive a car is only one of the many objectives. Attitudes of courtesy, respect for human life and numerous others are formed.



PREPARE - PERFORM

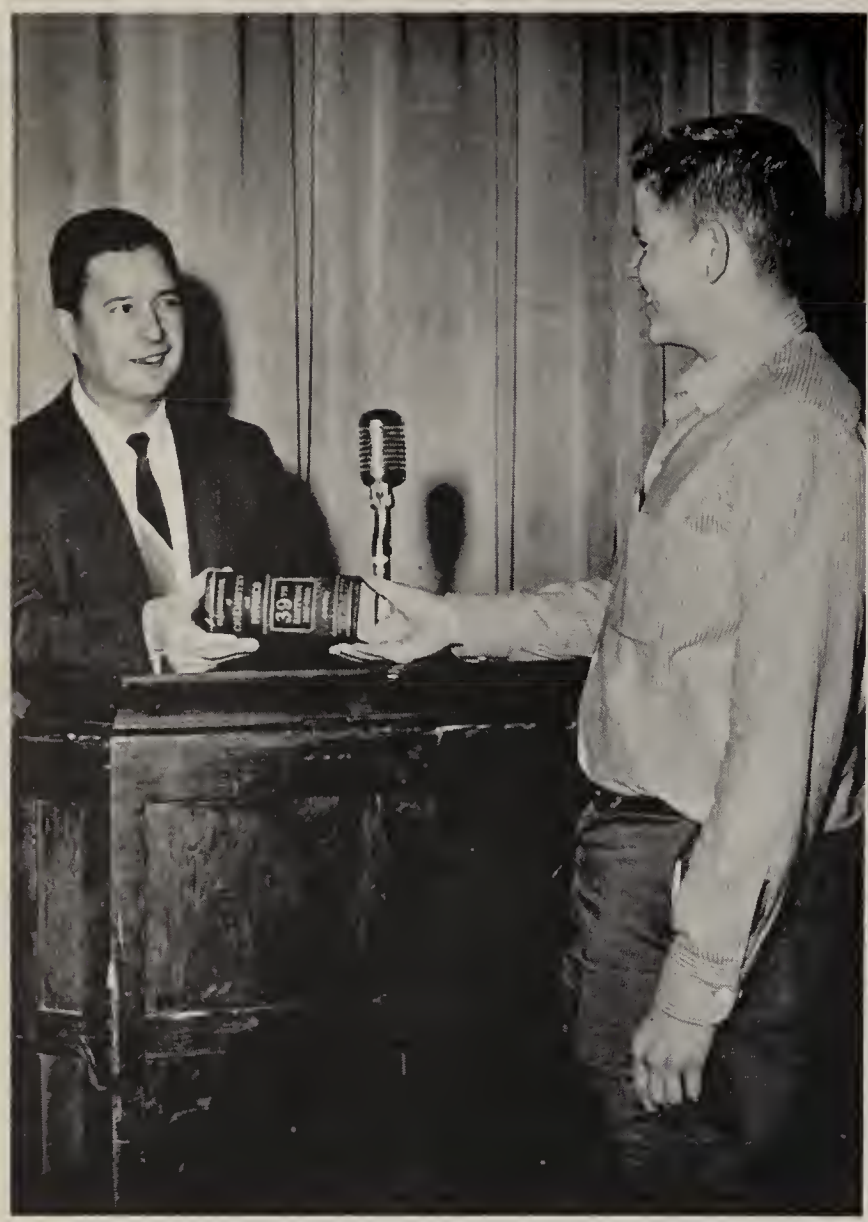
The ninth period on the day of a dance is a rush of crepe paper streamers as the students of the numerous clubs do their utmost to come up with clever theme decorations.

Steve Stanton, Linda Lindop, Sandra Higgs, and Joe Wetzel go through their roles just once more to assure themselves of a polished performance on opening night.



Mr. Siedlecki guides and directs the student governing body in their efforts to give the students just representation.

WOODCHUCKS ACHIEVE IN



Across the bridge of preparation a person usually finds the joy of fulfilling a dream or ambition. In high school the individual has many opportunities to reach these goals. Once a year in a special all-school auditorium, many students are publicly recognized for their academic achievements. Throughout the year auditoriums are held to award the athletic symbols of success to the students who have not only played the game well, but who have had the perseverance necessary to complete the season. Leadership, friendliness and ability, all character qualities worth working toward, gain recognition through school organizations, governing bodies and social functions. By performance, whether it be in the classroom, on the stage, at the athletic field, or in a musical group, we are experiencing the fruits of success and preparation.

Don Phillips receives the science award from Mr. Bruce Chaleff at the annual Awards Day auditorium. Don is just one of the many students recognized on this day for their outstanding academic work.

Rooting for the team to win is done with much enthusiasm by the loyal supporters of the Wood athletic teams. Win or lose they are always there to cheer the home team on to victory.

ACADEMICS, ACTIVITIES AND ATHLETICS

The goverment class plans many field trips to our legislative assemblies located here in Indianapolis. Here they can see first hand government in practice.

After much preparation the Thespian's play is presented to the school and community. Many plays are given through the year by this and other associated groups.

After school dances are the most popular form of entertainment for the students of Wood High School. Many times during the year different clubs of the school sponsor dances for fund raising purposes.

FIRST HOMECOMING IS THE

Excitement at Wood High during the month of October 1958 ran high. This was the first year our high school could feel that we were backed by a functioning alumni and a big celebration was planned as a Homecoming on October 21st.

The Log, yearbook of the school, initiated the idea of this gala affair; and early in the month prepared a slate of sixteen girls who were representatives of the different school clubs and organizations. Five of these girls won the final honor of acting as queen and court.

The high point of the final week of activities was the footall game on Tuesday. Here the queen and her court, with their escorts, made an entrance during the intermission at half-time. The queen was presented by the principal of the school, crowned by the captain of the football team, and presented with a large spray of roses by the president of the Alumni Association.

A large crowd was present to witness the crowning and most of these spectators wore gold chrysanthemums bearing streamers of purple which had been sold by the Log staff during the day. Elation knew no bounds when the home team won the game over Sacred Heart with a sizable margin. It was a fitting climax to the occasion.

Following the game many of the rooters returned to the building for the first Homecoming Dance where a live combo added much to the atmosphere of fun and comradeship.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE YEAR

Mr. Emery announces the winner of the Homecoming Queen Contest, as an anxious group of girls await the news. They are as follows: Marilyn Bennet, Linda Born, Dixie Curran, Zelda Zoe Pennington, and Paulette Robinson.

The crowd is shown here at the Sacred Heart game cheering Wood to Victory. Everyone supported the activities enthusiastically.

The Homecoming Dance was a place of festivities and fun. The dance was a grand success with nearly 500 people attending.

PARENTS AND PROJECTS

The P. T. A. officers, (First row): Mrs. LeRoy Born, Mr. Paul Taylor, and Mrs. Wilbur Root.
(Second row): Mrs. Clyde Foster, Mrs. Monford Sprong, and Mrs. Robert TeVault are shown in the library as they get ready to plan the annual program for the group.

Band Parents - Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. Harry Price, Mrs. Clyde Foster, and Mrs. William Arterberry-worked ever-so-hard to help raise money for the new band uniforms. The goal was finally reached and the new uniforms arrived in March.

FADS AND FASHIONS

Jerry Wilson, Carol Deveny, Byron Morris, and Alana Barra are shown in the typical clothes for school.

"Get your hoop, it's a party", was the cry at Wood this fall. Wood students, along with the rest of the country, had gone hula hoop crazy. Everyone tried to twirl the hoop, from the youngest seventh grader to the oldest teacher, the fad was universal.

New styles were seen in the halls of school this year, the brightest being the new colored hose to go with the girl's sweaters. Rock and Roll continued as the most in the musical world at Wood, with dancing the most popular hobby. Of course the fellows still messed around with their cars, either tearing them down or rebuilding them as the occasion arose. All in all it was a year filled with alot of fun and alot of new fads to try.

Linda Born charms with her smile and her large initial chain which were so popular with the gals this year.

LITTLE THINGS PLAY A

Each morning Mary Driver, Martha Duncan, and Carolyn Kennedy head for their lockers to shed their wraps and get books organized for the first few periods.

Daily happenings make up a big part of the school year. Not only do we have special events, but every day we do many things which contribute to the whole picture of school life. Many of the little things done as habit or as general procedure prove to be of lasting worth after we have graduated from school.

Also each morning Mr. Jones and Mr. Miller get all the little reminders and notes in the teachers' mailboxes.

A BIG ROLE IN THE SCHOOL DAY

In the Cafeteria many good things are sold as shown by this picture. Nearly every student in the school enjoy the tasty and reasonably priced meals.

Marilyn Bennett, David Carter, and Barbara TeVault are popping corn. Various organizations have the machine each week and sell popcorn after school hours.

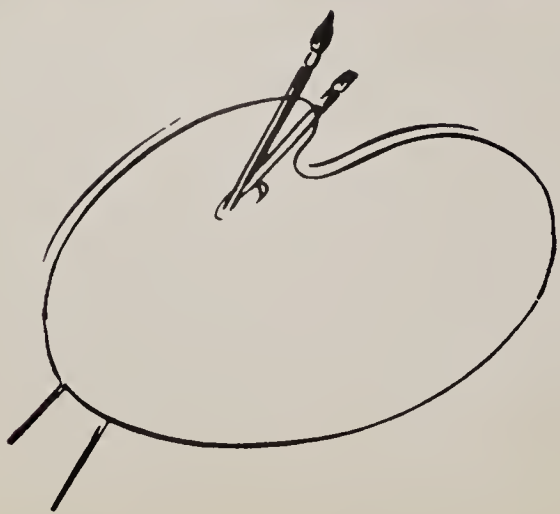
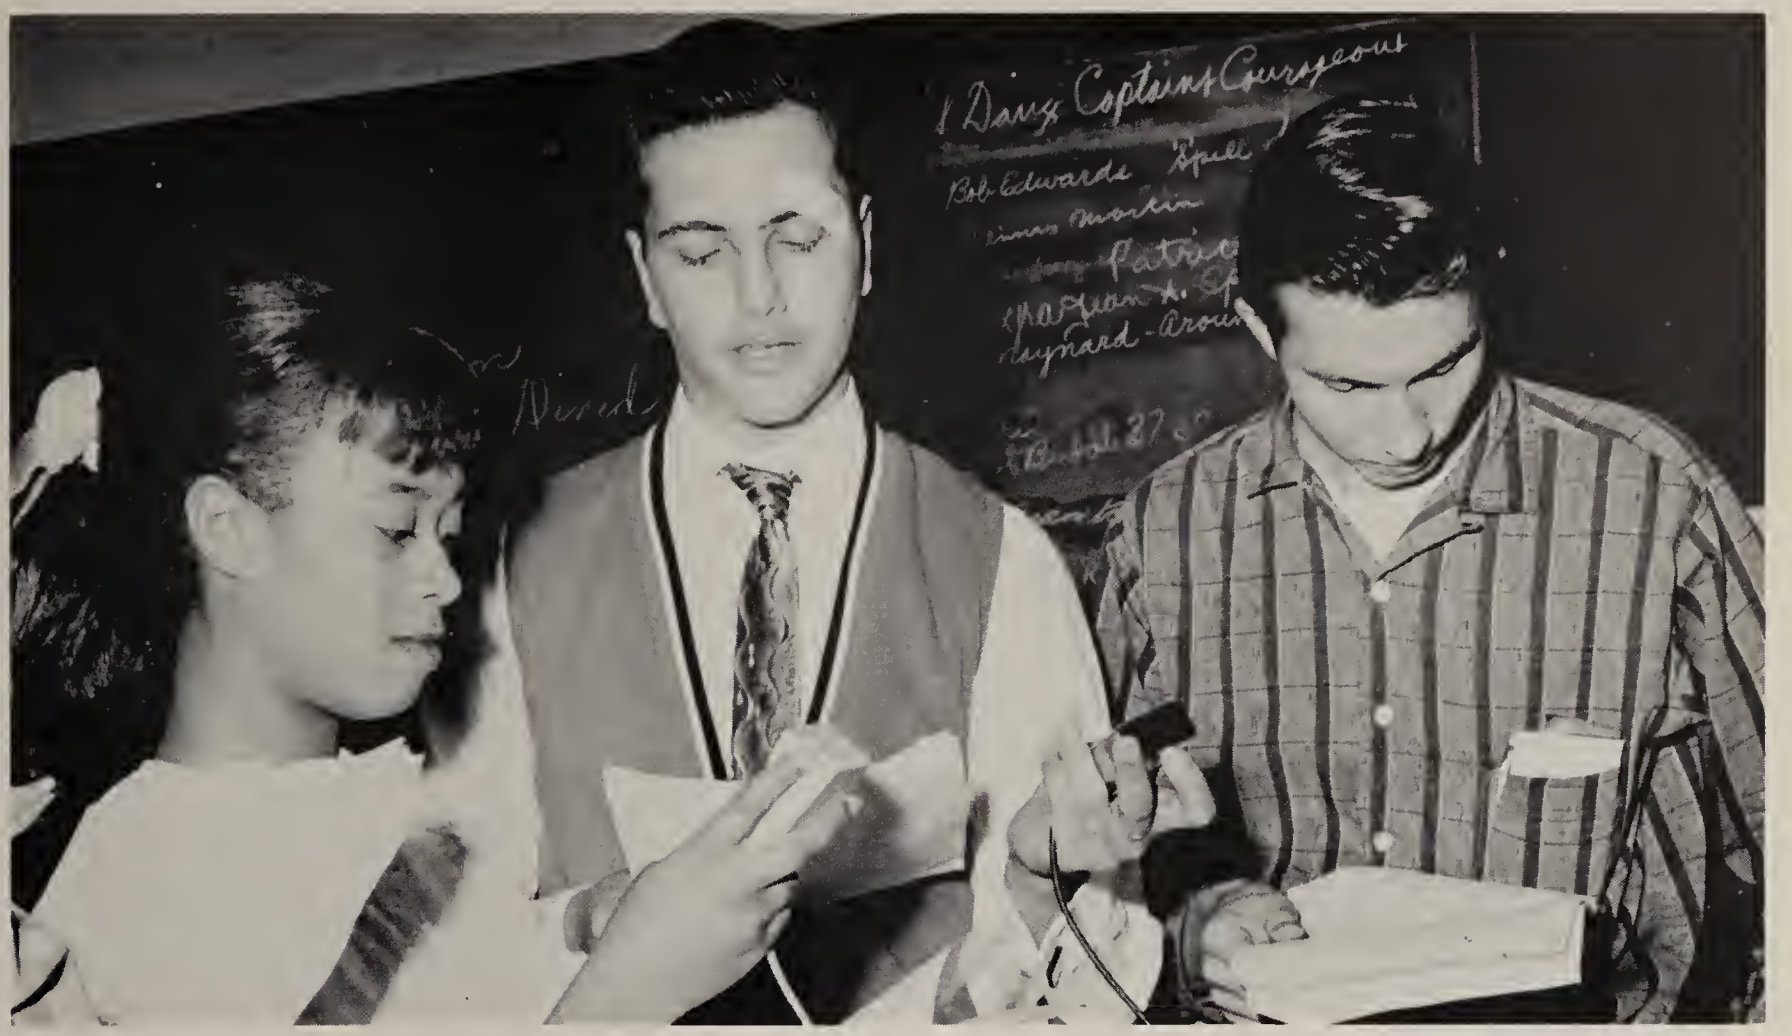
PRETTY PICTURES AND A PRETTY GIRL



Artistically inclined pupils have the opportunity to express themselves in various art classes. Leather tooling, ceramic arts, oil and water color painting, sketching, and crafts compose the curriculm of the art department.

ENGLISH IS THE CORE OF EDUCATION



English class can be made up of fundamentals of grammar, literature, the writing of themes, or the making up of speeches. This class is shown making a radio broadcast on tape to be played at a later date.

In the Reading Laboratory, students avail themselves of the books and machines to improve their reading level, speed, vocabulary, and comprehension. Mrs. Ruth Jenkinson is in charge of this work.

THE WONDERS OF SCIENCE

In Biology Doris Locke, Marvin McIntyre, and Richard Scaggs learn animals and insects play an important role in our environment.

Learning all the angles is important in Geometry. Sharon Mogle and Bob Rumple display geometric figures they have made for class.

HISTORY AND GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE

The history of the past leads the way to greater success in the future. We profit by reviewing past experiences and seeing the mistakes of others. By reading of the struggles and accomplishments of the early people who settled our country, we build an appreciation for our heritage. We, in 1959, are now making what will be the history in later years.

On one of its field trips, the American Government class visited the State Supreme Court.

Maxine Scarsbrook and David Bird get the facts of our economy.

DEVELOPING BUSINESS SKILLS

Joan Clark learns to operate a bookkeeping machine in the office machines class. A working knowledge of 15 machines is obtained from the training given in office machines.

A group of advanced typing students are busy at work in this Typing III class. Typing is a skill that every boy and girl should master whether or not they are planning to be office workers.

MUY BIEN GRACIAS

The Spanish Club enrich their learning of the language by studying the people of Spanish countries, collecting interesting Spanish handicrafts, and finding out exactly how the people live and act. They may plan an exciting make-believe tour of Spain; they may investigate the employment opportunities as though they planned to live in Spain.

All these extras make the class more colorful and meaningful. It develops an understanding of people and builds appreciation for people and things that happen to be different from us.

STRONG BODIES MAKE HAPPY PEOPLE

Harold Bratton and Sandy Sherrill investigate the workings of the circulatory system of the human body. They realize that to insure true happiness, a healthy and well-functioning body is essential.

In the physical education classes, girls attempt to keep their bodies trim and neat by doing exercises and various tumbling stunts.

HOMEMAKING SKILLS ARE NECESSITIES

The Home Economic Department of our school plays an important role in preparing young women for adulthood. Cooking and sewing usually become the careers of most women. Being prepared to manage a home, and to cook for a family makes the transition from girlhood to "woman of the house" much easier.

Shirley Bowen beams with pride over her accomplishments in sewing. The ability to sew is going to help Shirley save money when preparing her future wardrobes.

Pauletta Hollaway demonstrates the proper method to use to turn out delicious muffins. All of these girls in home economics are learning the arts of homemaking.

Metal Shop gives boys the opportunity to work on machines like ones found in industry. Wood High School trys to prepare its students for the many types of work that they may be interested in for the future. Billy McDowell, and Joe Warner are shown hard at work.

Charles Brandt and Ray Norton are busy on a problem for Mechanical Drawing. This is just one of the many classes offered in the Industrial Art Department for boys interested in drafting.

Larry Gribben and Robert Raines, two members of the printing class are seen operating one of the many machines used in this type of work. The print shop is kept busy with the many programs and school office forms which they print.

Building your own radio is the main project in electric shop. Tom Swartz, Steve Dayhuff, and George Beal inspect one of the student's efforts. Electric shop is offered for six semesters, and it is taken by students in electrical work.

Mr. DeWitt directs a class of students in the correct ways to construct products from wood. Each boy has the opportunity of selecting their projects and completing them with the many tools available in wood shop.

EAT A BALANCED DIET FOR DENTAL HEALTH AND GENERAL HEALTH

In Beauty Culture girls from all over the city join Wood students in learning the secrets of good grooming and hair styling. A new hair style is like a new hat to a woman; and these girls are learning to please the women who will be their own customers soon.

Mr. Tom Davis watching as his students demonstrate that they can shave a balloon without a nick or a scratch. Barbering also is open to students from other schools. The services of the barber shop are available to the general public at attractive prices.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES GIVE SPECIFIC TRAINING

Shoe Shop prepares and teaches boys the essentials of shoe repair. Many of the boys look forward to opening their own shoe shops.

The talents of the class of body and fender shop are constantly in demand by many teachers and students who need repairs on their cars. These boys learn the functions of the many parts of an automobile engine.

IN MANY DIFFERENT OCCUPATIONS

A modern cleaning plant is operated in the heart of Wood High School. This class gives students useable knowledge which they can apply on a job after high school.

A steady of patrons sample the foods prepared by the commercial cooking classes in the Wood cafeteria. There particular students are baking fruit pies for sixteen-hundred students.

ACTIVITIES A VITAL P

ACTIVITIES

PART OF WOOD HIGH SCHOOL

Many students participate in the activity program sponsored by numerous teachers, coaches, and parents of Wood High School. These activities are another step across the bridge of education. The activities encourage growth in leadership, initiative, and in learning how to organize. Through participation in school and extra curricular activities many students receive recognition and honors.

PUBLICATIONS AT WOOD

The Journalism Department at Wood is composed of two main publications--the Megaphone, a bi-monthly newspaper, and the Woodlog, the annual yearbook. The staffs of these publications are members of the Indianan High School Press Association, and they may attend a summer workshop at Indiana University. Other numerous conferences are held during the year for the benefit of these journalism students. It is an honor for students to hold positions on the Megaphone and Woodlog staffs. Special reporters on the Megaphone staff have the responsibility of relaying Wood school news to the Indianapolis papers.

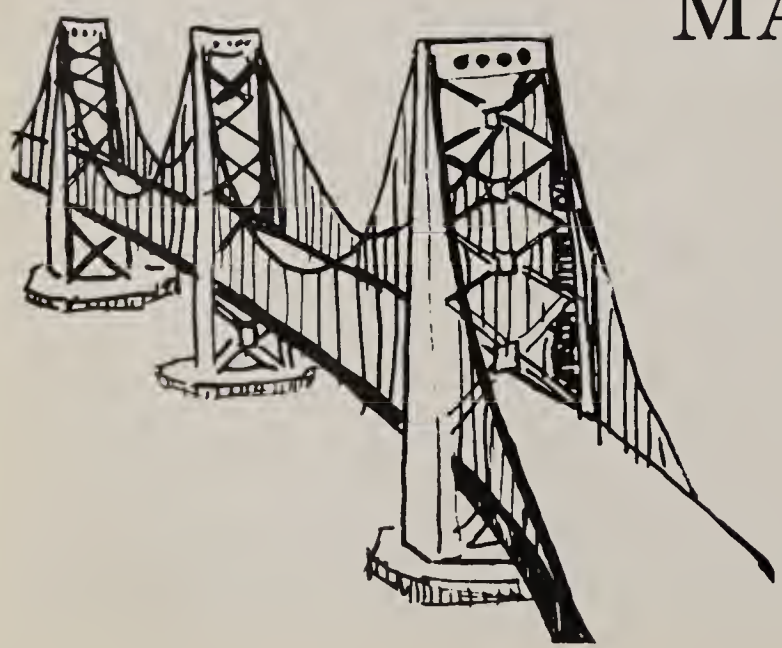
MANY PEOPLE CROSS THE W



WOOD BRIDGE OF EDUCATION

A feeling of friendship is evident from the loftiest senior to the humblest seventh grader in our school. The acquaintances made in high-school are one of the most important factors in personality growth. Everyone is familiar with most of the faces met from day to day and as we cross the bridge into maturity some of these faces will become the ones which will be our constant companions in life.

The senior class has many activities among which are included senior meetings, being measured for graduation robes, the annual senior picnic, and last but by no means least, counciling. These activities are just a few of the many that seniors participate in annually here at Wood.

THE
1959 SHOWCASE SPONSORED BY THE JUNIOR CLASS

The 1959 Showcase was a hugh success. When the curtain went up we traveled to the far west and saw the cowboys and Indians with Bret and Bart Maverick starring. Next the action took us back in Greek Mythology to a drama concerning the fate of Persephone. In search of a sacred monkey we started on a "Safri" where we met the witch doctor.

WOOD HIGH SCHOOL BANK

The Wood High School Bank is a unique feature of the school; students may open checking accounts in the bank. This account, however, is only good inside the school building. The bank functions in the methods of a regular bank. The school is indebted to the Indiana National Bank and its officers for sponsoring this bank in the school.
The school bank tellers are Elaine Belew, Rose Hardcastle, and recorder, Terry Carder.
